Character Design : Gary Gettler

Gary Gettler is on the surface a seemingly ordinary and friendly janitor at Quantum Labs who initially appears to be one of Isaac's few sources of support. He is quite easygoing, and understanding, especially after hearing Isaacs struggles. Behind that harmless exterior Gary is secretly the leader of the drug mafia. The one responsible for both Isaac's wife and Lionheart's sister sickness.

As the true antagonist, Gary is calculating, manipulative and ruthless with his goal being the Quantum Watch. With the watch he will be able to expand his business by removing any sort of undesirable outcome from the future. His greatest strength is his ability to hide behind his friendly persona, allowing him to gain Isaac's trust while secretly being responsible for so much suffering. Unlike Lionheart, who is driven by emotion, Gary is much colder and more calculated.

Name : Gary*
Race : Platypus*
Age : 53*

Line Up

The goal was that each shape, size and specie made sense within the characteristics of each character. Their species represent their role in the story, such as Isaac being a hyena since they are animals that clean up after each other. Their shape design bounce off each other such as Willson being more square like while Willow is more rounded. This represents their relationships with Willson being the more serious part of the relationship. These few examples represent a long list of active choices towards making everyone stand out while keeping it all cohesive.

Background : Casino

The casino is a place full of bright and saturated colors. Its colors palette is made to entice people to stay. Furthermore The props found in the casino highlight the animal part of this world. Showing how while the world set in modern things have a twist to them to fit its animal citizens.

Background : Lab Wilson and Willows lab where they created the Quantum Watch, representing their chaotic work environment and fun dynamic.

Background : Vegas Vegas, a place full of dynamic lights and services a place where Isaac and Leo enjoys staying during his free time as an outlet of their problems.

Prop Design : The Quantum Watch

The Quantum Watch designed by Willson. One of the many prototypes created and designed by him. The watch runs on Quantum Fuel formula which only his wife Willow is capable of creating. The red button on the watch is called the save point which is the moment you would like to come back to later. And the grey button is the one that sets everything in motion for you to return to that save point. However the couple was never able to make it work the way intended seemingly a problem with the watch's processing of the unstable formula. Fortunately the only tested way to go back to the save point is to shatter the watch which will cause it to fix itself to your save point. The watch due to running on fuel can run out and therefore cause time travel to not work. Furthermore if in contact with water the fuel becomes too diluted and causes the watch to stop working. The watch only brings the user back to its set point but doesn't change anything about its wearer. Meaning if something were to physically happen to the wearer going back in time will not fix it.

Prop Design : Casino

More props found in the casino, specifically the ones where Isaac first decides to test the capabilities of the watch.The props are classic with a twist of implementing the animal part of this world within the props themselves.

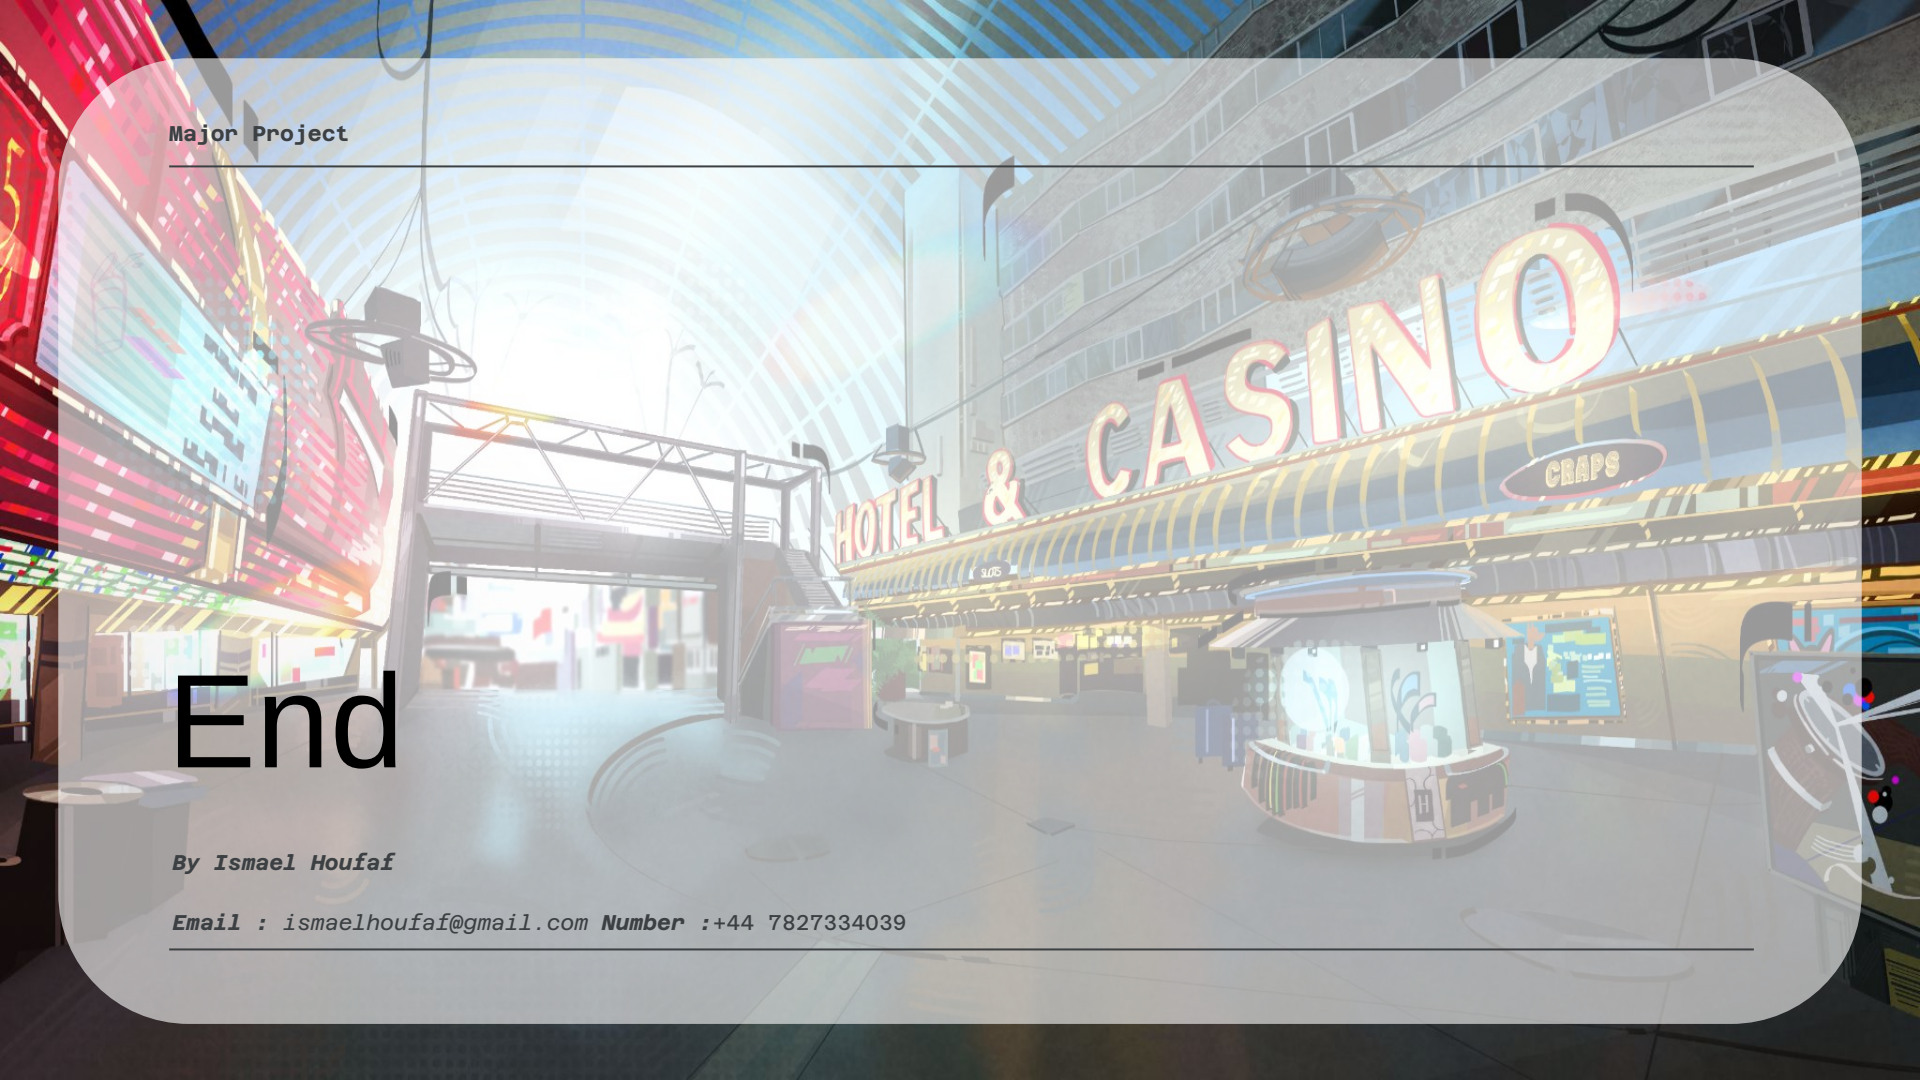

Thumbnail : The Look Of The Show

The final look of the show should be like this thumbnail. With characters having clear outline but not necessarily needing shading. The colours will work with implied shading through post processing. Environmental lighting plays a big role within the visuals in making it cohesive.
